

PRIMORSKY KRAI

Primorsky Krai is a subject of the Russian Federation. The administrative center is the city of Vladivostok, which is also the center of the Far Eastern Federal District.

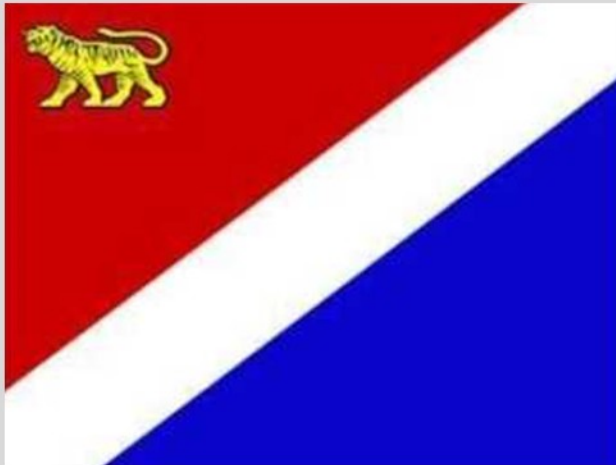

Primorsky Krai was established on October 20, 1938 by decree of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet of the USSR "On the division of the Far Eastern Territory into Khabarovsk and Primorsky Krai". It borders the Park in the west, the DPRK in the southwest, as well as the Khabarovsk Territory of the Russian Federation. The Russian Federation is in the north.

GEOGRAPHICAL POSITION

Geographical location. Primorsky Krai is located in the southernmost part of the Far East, on the shore of the Sea of Japan. The region borders the Khabarovsk Territory in the north, the PRC in the west, the DPRK in the southwest, and the waters of the Sea of Japan in the south and east. The maximum length of the region (from the mouth of the Tumannaya River to the sources of the Samara River) is about 900 km. The area of Primorsky Krai is 164,673 square meters. km, population – 1.9 million people (2016).

SYMBOLS DAY

The coat of arms of the Primorsky Territory is presented in the form of a shield with the image of a blue St. Andrew's cross, on top of which is a Ussuri tiger in gold.

The flag of the Primorsky Territory reflects the features of the region, which refer to belonging to the Russian Federation and proximity to the sea.

Day: October 20

Capital: Vladivostok

NATURAL RESOURCES AND CLIMATE

Minerals: hard and brown coal, non-ferrous and precious metals, mining and geochemical raw materials, building materials. Water resources: large reserves of underground fresh water have been discovered. Water forest resources: forests occupy up to 80% of the entire territory of the region.

The climate of Primorsky Krai is temperate and seasonal. Winters are dry and cold, with clear weather; thaws are frequent on the coast. The average temperature in January ranges from -8 – 14°C on the coast to -17 – 23°C in the continental part. The spring period is long, with frequent temperature fluctuations. Summers are warm and humid. The average temperature ranges from $+17^{\circ}\text{C}$ to $+25^{\circ}\text{C}$.

POPULATION

The population of Primorsky Krai, according to Rosstat, is 1,806,393 people. (2024). Population density - 10.97 people/km² (2024). Urban population 80.01% (2022).

National composition of the population: Russians - 1,675,992 (85.66%); Ukrainians - 49,953 (2.55%); Koreans - 18,824 (0.96%); Tatars - 10,640 (0.54%); Uzbeks - 8,993 (0.46%); Belarusians - 5,930 (0.30%); Armenians - 5,924 (0.30%); Azerbaijanis - 3,937 (0.20%); Chinese - 2,857 (0.15%); Mordva - 2,223 (0.11%); Germans - 2087 (0.10%); Chuvash - 1960 (0.10%); Bashkirs - 1564 (0.08%).

ATTRACTIONS

Far Eastern seareserve

Vladivostok fortress

Sikhote-Alinskyreserve